

Bram Majtlis

Bram's career started in his native country, The Netherlands, where he held managerial positions in the hospitality and travel industry. Notably with Holland America Line, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines and the "The Hague Visitors and Convention Bureau".

He moved to the United States over three decades ago and is a US citizen since 2000. In 1992 he started his Atlanta based company that specialized in destination management and travel marketing. Bram's career, exclusively in the hospitality and travel industry, has allowed him to develop an eye for detail, organization and logistics.

A South Florida homeowner since 2007 and a full time resident of Palm Beach since 2014, Bram has been the President of The Reef Condominium Association, for the past 6 years,

Furthermore his local involvement includes serving on the Town of Palm Beach's Code Enforcement Board, presently as it's Vice Chair and as a Vice Chair of the Citizens Association of Palm Beach.

As a supporter and proponent of the preservation of the architectural treasures of Palm Beach, Bram was instrumental guiding The Reef through the process of landmarking, which resulted in The Reef to be the first landmarked building south of Sloan's Curve.

Together with Nick Gold, his husband of 32 years, he loves where he lives and to serve his community.
