

Dr. Deborah Day is a licensed psychologist who practices clinical and forensic psychology in Winter Park and Palm Beach. She shares time in both communities and has developed a love for Palm Beach. She is not only active in the psychology community, she became the HOA President of Tower Vallandry where she and her family reside. In her attempt to give back to the community, she joined the Citizens Association board upon the recommendation of another Citizen Association board member. She has experience with HOA boards and currently also serves as the President of her commercial building HOA.
